It's not easy to wait for results to emerge from our efforts in this life. And it's even harder, sometimes, to wait for God to come through on a promise made in Scripture, to answer a prayer request we've been making for months or years, or to complete his work of transforming us into people worthy of being called Christian disciples. Sometimes we forget that trust and patience are essential to the outcome, and that the process, itself, is somehow part of the outcome. With that in mind, I share with you a brief and beautiful bit of Jesuit spiritual guidance.

Peace and God bless, -Fr.Mike.

Patient Trust

Above all, trust in the slow work of God.

We are quite naturally impatient in everything to reach the end without delay.

We should like to skip the intermediate stages.

We are impatient of being on the way to something unknown, something new.

And yet it is the law of all progress that it is made by passing through some stages of instability – and that it may take a very long time.

And so I think it is with you: your ideas mature gradually – let them grow, let them shape themselves, without undue haste.

Don't try to force them on, as though you could be today what time (that is to say, grace and circumstances acting on your own good will) will make of you tomorrow.

Only God would say what this new spirit gradually forming within you will be.

Give our Lord the benefit of believing that his hand is leading you, and accept the anxiety of feeling yourself in suspense and incomplete.

– Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, SJ
