Our hardworking St. Robert's School principal, Dr. Patrick Sullivan, continues to work during his summer break. Currently, he is supervising the installation of new security cameras for our school. Earlier this week, he announced four new faculty members:

Darin Little, Resource Specialist: He worked in counseling, teaching, and as an Academic Resource Specialist at Sacred Heart Cathedral Preparatory in San Francisco for 11 years. For the past four years, he taught English Language Development to newcomers at Galileo High School.

Mrs. Daphne Ruiz, First Grade Teacher: She's been teaching elementary level for 14 years in different countries such as Singapore, Philippines, Thailand and Australia. She also taught in private schools, international schools and Catholic schools in the past.

Ms. Natalie Fregoso, Fifth Grade Homeroom Teacher: Natalie attended San Francisco State University for her undergraduate studies in the fields of English Literature, and Women and Gender Studies. She is finalizing her multi-subject teaching credential at San Francisco State University, and has taught at several schools.

Edgar Ceja, Religious Director and Religion Teacher: Edgar was the 8th grade homeroom and junior high religion teacher at All Souls School and was involved in the St. Matthew youth Confirmation program for a number of years.
